

HACK 254

A Hackathon organized by developer's, innovators and techpreneurs at SoftCode LLC
Kenya

Information for Sponsors

ABOUT US

---

We are a community of believers in the imperative role that innovation has to play in the field of science, technology and engineering. Hack 254 is primarily constituted of coders, engineers and innovators that together have worked to develop different solutions to problems that face the community in everyday life.

We believe in the value of collaboration, rapid iterative development and conversion of ideas into solutions that are actionable and sustainable. It is based on these values that we built Hack254.

We intend to partner with organizations and individuals from all facets of the technology space and beyond to bring the aforementioned parties together to realize the development of sustainable solutions to everyday problems.
